

Concurrent Technologies Corporation Earns Safety Awards for Third Straight Year

National Safety Council awards recognize CTC's safety culture

For the third consecutive year, Concurrent Technologies Corporation (CTC) has earned two National Safety Council (NSC) awards for achieving significant safety milestones. The NSC presented CTC with:

- Million Work Hours Award – for working more than one million hours (Oct. 1, 2015 – Dec. 31, 2016) without a lost-time incident
- Perfect Record Award – for working more than 807,000 hours (all of 2016) without a lost-time accident

These awards honor the safety culture that CTC management and employees have incorporated into their everyday practice.

“All CTC employees should be proud of these accomplishments. They are committed to maintaining a safe workplace – day in and day out,” said Mark Parseghian, CTC Principal Risk Management Lead. “Achieving these awards for a third straight year is a testament to why CTC is a leader in safety and deserving of our VPP \(Voluntary Protection Programs\) Star Status.”

CTC's safety efforts are led by the company's safety professionals, the Environmental Health and Safety Committee, and the Safety Committee.

National Safety Council

Founded in 1913 and chartered by Congress, the National Safety Council is a nonprofit organization whose mission is to save lives by preventing injuries and deaths at work, in homes and communities, and on the road through leadership, research, education and advocacy. NSC advances this mission by partnering with businesses, government agencies, elected officials and the public in areas where we can make the most impact – distracted driving, teen driving, workplace safety, prescription drug overdoses and safe communities. www.nsc.org
