

Concurrent Technologies Corporation and Enterprise Ventures Corporation Employees Help Create Flood City Feast – Johnstown Restaurant Week Highlights the City’s Best Establishments

Discover Fabulous Finds and Delicious Eats during Flood City Feast

Concurrent Technologies Corporation (CTC) and Enterprise Venture Corporation (EVC) employees have long been known for their dedication to their local communities. Once again, several employees are participating in the Johnstown Chamber of Commerce’s John B. Gunter Community Leadership Initiative. The program helps hone leadership skills and promote community volunteerism.

Three employees from CTC and EVC are participating in the latest program: Jeff Anderson, EVC Managing Director, Professional Services; Jacquelyn Brown, CTC Principal Proposal Lead; and Michelle Burkey, EVC Spares & Repairs Project Manager. As part of the program, they were tasked with creating a project or event that will positively impact the local community. The result – Johnstown Restaurant Week.

Appropriately named the Flood City Feast as a nod to the city’s heritage, this event seeks to introduce residents to Johnstown restaurants through special menus and discounts available during the week of April 24–30, 2016. Visit downtown Johnstown and the surrounding areas for delicious eats, fabulous finds and stunning attractions.

More than a dozen locally owned restaurants are participating in the Flood City Feast. There is something for everyone and every meal, from a hearty breakfast at Press Bistro to a delicious deep-dish lunch at Capri Pizza to relaxing dinner and drinks after work at Asiago’s Wine and Martini Bar. You only have a week to devour the delicious deals and specials!

In addition to being able to eat great food at fantastic prices, you also have the chance to win various prizes when you check in on social media with the hashtag #floodcityfeast or by entering your name in the prize boxes located at every participating restaurant.

CTC and EVC are sponsors of the event, along with Conemaugh Health System, 1st Summit Bank, Reighard Machine, Inc., April Shaffer Graphic Design, and Holiday Inn Johnstown – Downtown. For more information, visit the Flood City Feast website, Facebook page, or Twitter page.
