

By editor@pabusinesscentral.com | on January 29, 2021

Edward J. Sheehan, Jr.
President and CEO
Concurrent Technologies Corporation (CTC)

Ed leads the innovative technology successes at Concurrent Technologies Corporation (CTC) and contributes to industry and community organizations through board memberships. In 2020, CTC and affiliate Enterprise Ventures Corporation (EVC) were awarded $92.5 million in contracts from new and existing government and industry partners. Ed serves on the boards of a number of local, regional, and national economic development, public service, and charitable organizations, including the National Defense Industrial Association (NDIA), the largest and most effective defense industry- related trade association, Council President of the Pennsylvania Society, board member of 1 st Summit Bank and Holding Company, and a member of the board of Friends of the Flight 93 National Memorial in Shanksville, PA. Mr. Sheehan and his wife, Julie, have been married for 39 years and have four daughters, a son-in-law, and a grandson.

George W. Appley
Executive Vice President and COO
Concurrent Technologies Corporation (CTC)

George oversees a comprehensive array of services and programs in support of Concurrent Technologies Corporation's (CTC's) day-to- day operations. He leads all assigned internal operations, working in partnership with the CEO, cocreating the company's strategic plan and implementing new processes and approaches to achieve the strategic plan. He oversees three divisions: Engineering, Information Technology, and Readiness; and directs CTC's focus on business development. In addition to leading CTC's operations, Mr. Appley has spearheaded several cultural transformation initiatives in business development, project management, and people management to improve CTC's competitiveness. His accomplishments include transforming IT from an internal cost center to a strategic enabler of the business and being named a finalist for Pittsburgh CIO of the Year in 2006, 2011, and 2012.