CivilianJobs.com Recognizes Concurrent Technologies Corporation as a 2010 Most Valuable Employer for Military™

Johnstown, PA, June 16, 2010 – Concurrent Technologies Corporation (CTC) has been recognized as a 2010 Most Valuable Employer (MVE) for Military™ by CivilianJobs.com. CTC is one of only 25 companies nationwide who made the final list.

“CTC is honored to be recognized as a Most Valuable Employer for Military winner,” said Edward J. Sheehan, Jr., CTC’s President & Chief Executive Officer. “We are being acknowledged alongside other military-friendly organizations including Amazon, Walmart, General Electric, and Northrop Grumman. Since the company’s beginning we have worked hard to exceed expectations in support of both active duty troops and veterans. In 2009, CTC received two awards in recognition of our efforts from the Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR), a DoD organization established to promote cooperation and understanding between Reserve component members and their civilian employers. Our men and women in uniform protect and serve our country; the least we can do is make their transition to civilian life a little easier.”

The 2010 Most Valuable Employers (MVE) for Military winners were selected based on surveys in which employers outlined their 2010 recruiting, training, and retention plans that best serve military service members and veterans.

“I would like to congratulate all of the MVE award recipients,” said Sandra (Sandy) Morris, CEO of Bradley-Morris, Inc. (BMI), parent company of CivilianJobs.com. “We are excited to have employers ranging from small businesses to Fortune 500 companies represented in this year’s winners and finalists list. Each MVE company understands the value that military-experienced talent brings to their organization.”

Award recipients are being recognized on the CivilianJobs.com Web site as well as in the May issue of Civilian Job News, CivilianJobs.com’s worldwide military base newspaper.
